Unlike the prior quarter, the Wellington housing market shifted emphasis to higher-end sales as single-family listing inventory expanded providing more options for buyers. Price trend indicators moved higher across all housing markets aided by more substantial sized sales. The median sales price for condos jumped 14.2% to $251,250, and median sales price for single-families rose 3.9% to $395,000 respectively from the year-ago quarter. This pattern was repeated in the single family with two or more acres, and the luxury markets as the average size of a sale saw significant gains.

The lack of inventory has restrained the growth of the former. Although sales of single families with two or more acres market, were down by one transaction from the year-ago quarter, their activity doubled from the previous quarter as inventory expanded 18.6% from the prior year. Median sales price in this narrowly defined submarket jumped 47.4% to $2,875,044 over the same period.

Price trend indicators rose within both segments of the luxury market, representing the top 10% of all sales. The luxury median sales price of a condo jumped 27.8% to $677,500, and luxury median sales price of a single-family increased 3.9% to $1,062,500 respectively from the year-ago quarter.

LUXURY

- Condo price trend indicators surged as listing inventory tightened
- Condo marketing time fell sharply, and negotiability expanded
- Single-family price trend indicators rose as listing inventory increased
- Single-family days on market and listing discount contracted
