- Most submarkets reflected a sharp drop in average sales size that skewed price trends lower
- Listing inventory declines continued to hold back condo and single-family sales
- Condo sales expanded as single-family sales declined

The Douglas Elliman Report series is recognized as the industry standard for providing the state of the residential real estate market. The report includes an extensive suite of tools to help readers objectively identify and measure market trends, provide historical context to current information and provide comprehensive analysis of the results.

Wellington continued to see a shift in the mix of transactions. Listing inventory for condos fell 25.5% to 108 and listing inventory for single families declined 11.7% to 551 respectively from the year-ago quarter. Like many South Florida markets in the third quarter, the condo market outperformed the single-family market. Condo sales jumped 21.9% to 89 while single-family sales declined 24% to 241 respectively from the same quarter last year. The difference in market pace by property type was evident. The absorption rate, defined as the number of months to sell all listing inventory at the current rate of sales varied significantly by property type. The condo absorption rate was 3.6 months, 40% faster and the single-family absorption rate was 6.9 months, 16.9% slower respectively than the same period last year. This was also evident in the price trend indicators in both the overall and luxury markets over the same period. In the overall market, median sales price for condos increased 15% to $230,000 while single-family median sales price declined 2.3% to $390,000. In the luxury market, representing the top 10% of all sales, condo median sales price surged 65.6% to $525,000 while single-family sales declined 38% to $829,000.

LUXURY

- Condo listing inventory and absorption rate fell
- Condo marketing time and negotiability expanded
- Single-family average sales size fell sharply skewing price trends lower
- Single-family days on market and listing discount declined

Luxury Mix Condo / TH	Sales Share	Volume Share

SINGLE FAMILY

WITH TWO+ ACRES

- Significant decline in average sales size skewed price indicators down sharply
- Days on market and listing discount moved lower
- Nominal sales volume this quarter pushed absorption rate higher
