

BROOKLYN

- Median sales price reaches first quarter 6 year high Median sales price edged up 1% to $520,000, the highest first quarter result in 6 years. Average sales price rose 7.3% to $681,182 over the same period.
- Listing inventory declined to 6 year low, tempering sales There were 1,572 sales in the quarter, 2.2% less than the prior year quarter. Listing inventory fell 13.2% to 4,092, the lowest level in the six years since this metric has been recorded.
- Days on market fell, as the monthly absorption rate quickened With inventory falling at a faster rate than sales, the monthly absorption rate accelerated to 7.8 months from 8.8 months in the prior year quarter. Days on market fell by a month to 131 days over the same period.

The Brooklyn housing market was characterized by more modest price growth and chronic lack of inventory, holding back sales growth. Median sales price expanded 1% to $520,000 from the same period last year and the highest first quarter result in 6 years. Average sales price grew 7.3% to $681,182 over the same period. Co-ops posted the largest year-over-year gain in median sales price, rising 12.2% to $340,000 but lost 2.1% of the market share. Condos remained essentially unchanged over the year with a $625,000 median sales price and market share edged 1.6% higher. The 1-3 family median sales price increased 5.1% to $588,733 and market share increased a nominal 0.5%.

There were 4,092 listings at the end of the first quarter, a 13.2% decline from the prior year quarter and the lowest total in the 6 years this metric has been tracked. The chronic lack of inventory kept the number of sales from expanding during the quarter. There were 1,572 sales in the fourth quarter, 2.2% below the same period last year. As a result of inventory falling faster than the number of sales, the absorption rate, the number of months to sell all inventory at the current pace of sales, declined to 7.8 months from the prior year quarter.

Listing discount, the percentage between the last list price and the sales price, was unchanged at 1.1% from the prior year quarter. Days on market, the number of days from the last list price change to contract date, fell by a month to 131 days from the prior year quarter.

The Douglas Elliman Report series is recognized as the industry standard for providing the state of the residential real estate market in the New York City metropolitan region.
