In a reversal of the previous quarter sales pattern, increase in activity, concentrated in the North End to close out 2017. The average size of a single-family sale surged 80.9% to 6,021 square feet from the year-ago quarter. The luxury market, which was comprised of the top 10% of all sales and was solely single-family sales, surged 87.6% to 9,429 square feet over the same period. Conversely, the condo average sales size fell 7.2% to 1,669 square feet with a corresponding influence on price trends. The median sales price of a single-family sale more than doubled to $6,750,000, and condo median sales price declined 30.9% to $505,500 respectively from the year-ago quarter. Luxury median sales price showed the same price skew, surging 162.4% to $15,216,838 as the sales market shifted to significantly larger properties. There were 36 condo sales, down 30.8% and 21 single-family sales, up 31.3% respectively from the same quarter a year ago. Inventory levels of both property types declined but for condos, was not enough to offset the decline in sales. The condo absorption rate, the number of months to sell all listings at the current rate of sales, was 38.1% slower than the prior-year quarter, rising to 25 months. Single-family inventory fell 11.6% to 153, but because sales increased, the pace of the market moved faster. The single-family absorption rate was 32.4% faster than the prior-year quarter, falling to 21.9 months. Days on market for the luxury market, the average number of days between the date of the last price change to the contract date for properties that closed in the quarter more than doubled to 496 days indicating that older listings were being sold off.
